WHEN all is said, the sea is an amiable realm. To be sure, when the wind blows the waves rise and the ship rocks and some of us may never again venture upon the unquiet element. But presently the winds subside to a sphyx and the waves to a sibilant murmur and the stomachs to surprised contentment. And besides, the amiability of the sea is really less a matter of its moods than of its freedom from territorial enmities and the animosities of frontiers, which make movement by land an affliction and bring tempests worse than any oceanic typhoon.

THAT, so me, is the meaning of the sea, Israel, 10,000 tons, freshly launched and shining like a new pearl, of twelve new ships from freighter to passenger liner which will be added to its fleet. For the Israel's sea is not a matter of its moods but of its freedom from territorial enmities and the animosities of frontiers, which make movement by land an affliction and bring tempests worse than any oceanic typhoon.

ONE would never have thought the Israel's sea was a matter of its moods but of its freedom from territorial enmities and the animosities of frontiers, which make movement by land an affliction and bring tempests worse than any oceanic typhoon.

THERE, then, in Haifa is the sea, Israel, 10,000 tons, freshly launched and shining like a new pearl, of twelve new ships from freighter to passenger liner which will be added to its fleet. For the Israel's sea is not a matter of its moods but of its freedom from territorial enmities and the animosities of frontiers, which make movement by land an affliction and bring tempests worse than any oceanic typhoon.

HOW far, I wonder, can a young nation expand seas in a world that already has many sea-faring peoples? How far should its faith be put in ships and how far in aircraft? How far should it take to sea as big as many a coastal freighter? There are answers to these questions and the answers, I suppose, have been noted by the young nation, for the strength of them, is said to fore-shadow a fleet of one hundred ships. It seems a lot of ships, but when you compare today's twenty or twenty-two with the one of ten years ago, the figure does not appear illusory, especially if it is the intention of the young nation's shipping industry to do as the Scandinavians have done and act as carriers between one foreign port and another, plying from Haifa to Sydney, or from Haifa to North America, not merely picking up short-haulage freight, but carrying passengers and mail.

THE sea is still a kingdom of romance, its perils and adventures are no longer those of the old days. It is a matter of insurance, of loss, of treasure, as any good shipping line's balance sheet will show: so much the better for Israel.

Adenauer Sees No End of Tension

BONN, Thursday (Reuters). — Chancellor Konrad Adenauer said yesterday that no end to the cold war was in sight, and there had been no reduction in tension. In an interview published yesterday and broadcast over the north-west German radio, Adenauer said that a solution to the German problem by which Russia would agree to renounce its claims to the city of Berlin would not be acceptable. The Western powers must try everything in Germany to see that the Russians agree to renounce their claims to the city of Berlin. He did not think that Russia would agree to leave her zone of Germany. Dr. Adenauer today summoned his Cabinet to report on his conference with Premier Adenauer on the forthcoming publication to determine the future status of the Saar.

Ministries Not Fixed In B.G.'s Final Draft

TEL AVIV, Thursday. — Mr. Ben-Gurion's final draft of a platform for a five-cornered coalition was handed to the prospective partners late this afternoon. It is a bulky document of 18 typewritten pages. It contains 55 paragraphs divided into 14 chapters, but contains no proposal for the distribution of portfolios.

Nasser Says Israel 'Must Be Destroyed'

NEW YORK, Thursday (INA). — Premier Abdul Nasser told Mr. Kenneth Love, "The New York Times" correspondent in Cairo, that "we must destroy Israel." In a dispatch to the paper today, Mr. Love quoted Abdul Nasser as saying, "I am not an easy decision for anybody, especially for me. We must destroy Israel. The Arabs are asking us to refuse to accept their natural right to life, and their lost property which was promised them by the U.N. resolutions seven years ago. We are not aggressive. Now I am obliged to give defence priority over development. It was the other way around before Ben-Gurion's vicious attack on Gaza on February 23."

He was replying to Mr. Love's question whether Egypt would attack Israel if victory appeared easy and certain. Whether the dispute over Egypt's blockade of Akaba Gulf would lead to a war depends on Israel, the Premier said. On the question of suspecting Israel of seeking preventive war to forestall Egypt's arms deal with the Soviet Union, Abdul Nasser said he believed that the agreement would make Israel think twice about aggressive actions. He said that he had expected an Israeli attack ever since February 23, but that the danger would decrease as the Arab-Israeli arms balance is restored.

The Premier insisted that the correspondent that Egypt had no aggressive intention towards Israel. He said that Egypt's urgent need for weapons was based not so much on Israel's present military preponderance, as on the evidence that her arms lead over the Arab states would increase rapidly in the coming year. "I have sources of information in Paris, Rome, Brussels, London, and Cairo," he said. "I know what Israel has contracted to receive in the next 10 months. For example, Bay of Bengal to the North Atlantic. Vessels of the Israeli flag skirt the African continent and trace the whole magic coast of the Americas. They carry and deliver their goods to the East, and bless their little hearts, they earn dollars, which is an endearing habit, and one likely to be intensified at a higher level than they have been for years. In brief, here is an Israeli development project that is ready more than any other in the world."

PARIS, Thursday. — The Israeli Ambassador, Mr. Jacob Tsur, has just arrived here after several meetings with Mr. Rene Massigli, Secretary-General of the Foreign Ministry, and other senior officials. JERUSALEM, Thursday. — Nearly 5,000 persons, from Ma'ana and Migav-Am in the North, to Givat Rahel in the South, flocked today to the two Negev kibbutzim, Revivim and Mashabei Sade, to celebrate the water festival. Among the many guests were Ministers, Members of the Knesset and of the Jewish Agency, representatives of the Israeli Labour movement, and the Haganah. His letter and Mr. Truman's reply were published today. Mr. Truman wrote: "I certainly appreciate your letter and the statement that I could beat the Republicans. At 71 I have spent 30 years in elective public office as well as two years in the First World War, some of it at the front, and I think I have made my contribution to the public welfare, notwithstanding Mr. Wendell Willkie and Mr. Joseph P. Kennedy."

New Greek Gov't Is Sworn In

ATHENS, Thursday. — Mr. Constantine Karamanlis, former Minister of Public Works, was today sworn in as Premier, and he picked a Government that is a blend of old and new. King Paul appointed Mr. Karamanlis Premier-designate yesterday less than 24 hours after the death of Premier Alexander Papagos. The new Premier also holds the Defence portfolio. For the key post of Foreign Minister, he picked Mr. Spiro Triantafyllidis, a little known member of his Greek Rally Party.

Contents Not Disclosed

The nature of all 55 points is not known, but it is said they do not differ from the first draft except in details. It appears that they embody the Progressive view on Labour Exchange and Government health services — against which Ma'ana has not failed to protest. On the other hand, Ma'ana seemed satisfied with the proposal to establish a Ministry of Agriculture.

New Ministers

New Ministers were Minister of Interior Ioannis Triantafyllidis; Trade Minister Vasilios Pappas; Agriculture Minister Constantine Papadimitriou; and Justice Minister Constantine Adanopoulos.

Faure Stakes Life of His Cabinet on Morocco Policy

4 Gaullist Ministers Leave

'Anti-Colonialists' Turn U.N. Guns on Britain

PARIS, Thursday. — Prime Minister Edgar Faure opened a fight for the survival of his Government in the National Assembly tonight, hemmed in by Moroccan troubles, ranging from a Cabinet "revolt" to guerrilla warfare north of Fez. M. Faure dismissed four Gaullist Ministers, and demanded a debate in the Assembly, which was to have resumed its sessions only on Monday. But without waiting to hear M. Faure defend his Moroccan policy, crucial segments of his parliamentary majority and his supporters in the Assembly deserted him. Informed sources said that leaders of the four-party "moderate" group, with 129 deputies in the Assembly, had informed the Premier that he could not count on their support. Three of the four parties had been known to be hostile. The fourth and largest of these, comprising 53 Independents, joined the others several hours before the debate was due to start (10 o'clock local time last night).

Refuses to Resign

M. Faure looked tired but determined after a 40-minute talk with leaders of the "moderate" parties who vowed to pull their representatives out of the Cabinet if he went through with the debate. They placed down the Premier's resignation after hearing him rap to reporters. "I have refused to resign," he said. There were conflicting reports as to whether the four Gaullist Ministers had resigned or were dismissed. Earlier, the four, General Pierre Koenig (Defence), Gaston Palewski (Defence Coordination), M. Raymond Triboulet (Ex-Servicemen) and M. Maurice Rayrou (Under-Secretary for Overseas Territories) called on the Premier to form a "Government of Public Safety" to be headed by a figure of national authority. Political sources believe that they had Gen. Charles de Gaulle in mind.

S.S. Israel Docks in Haifa At End of Maiden Voyage

Jerusalem Post Bureau

HAIFA, Thursday. — Israel's maritime passenger service was finally put into the top class with the arrival this morning of the 10,000-ton, 45m. mixed passenger-cargo liner, the S.S. Israel. The Port and the ship were both beamed for the occasion, the first call of the vessel at her home port, at the end of her maiden voyage from Southampton. The ship was built in Germany out of Reparation funds.

The vessel brought 25 immigrants from Spanish Morocco; seven immigrants from Great Britain and 247 tourists and returning residents. The newcomers from Morocco were immediately sent to development areas.

The Zim management, owners of the ship, stated that the vessel would always bring a small number of immigrants, "as a symbol of Israel," whose name also bears.

Large Receptions

In answer to questions, a representative of the management confirmed that a large number of guests would be invited to receptions during the next few days to mark the ship's arrival. The first reception would be served, and instead of spending large sums on parties for guests, Zim would donate 12,500 for the purchase of a small number of immigrants, "as a symbol of Israel," whose name also bears.

The new ship, the first passenger liner, "made to measure" for Israel, will ply the Israel-Europe-America line, on which she will be joined by a sister ship, the Zion, next January. She will leave on her first American round trip on October 13.

The vessel costs $5,000 daily to run, and will have to be filled to 66 per cent of passenger capacity and 80 per cent cargo capacity to pay for herself. To make the Atlantic run with a minimum of rolling, stabilizers will be fitted on her shortly.

ROMEK'S CLAIM IS REFUTED

"A complete falsehood, I heard about it for the first time from the press," Mr. Yitzhak Rosenberg said yesterday in the Jerusalem District Court in refuting a claim by Mr. Rosenberg (Romek) Greenberg that Mr. Rosenberg had abandoned him out of 12,500 in a plywood business deal.

"Romek" is on trial for threatening Mr. Rosenberg with violence for failing to repay a loan of an exorbitant interest. Mr. Rosenberg stated that he had only borrowed money from "Romek," and that he knew nothing about any business deal involving about any business deal.

The final witness, Mr. Moshe Shimon, of Migdal Ashkeiron, who housed Mr. Rosenberg when he fled Jerusalem in the middle of July to escape, allegedly from "Romek," testified in court.

Bid to Keep Cigarette Factory in Capital

The Jerusalem Cigarette Company agreed yesterday to open negotiations with the Jerusalem Labour Council on the possibility of continuing the operation of the plant, which gives employment to 30 persons.

The move followed a sit-down strike of the workers in the plant, which was suddenly notified that the plant would be closed down permanently today. The Labour Council pointed out that the cigarette plant is one of the country's cigarette output while manufacturing only a fraction of this, forcing the capital to "import" cigarettes from Tel Aviv.

Merry-Making To Honour the Torah

The Jerusalem Post learned today, a telegram received by the Municipality today from Chief Rabbi Herzog, that the Municipality "to prevent bull-fighting because it is contradictory to moral practices and teachings."

Mr. Shalom Korman, Acting Mayor, told The Jerusalem Post that the subject will be discussed at the council meeting next Monday, and the city's management would do nothing contrary to the wishes of the observant citizens. He said that the original plan of the Municipality, as received by the Chief Rabbi's Office, would be taken into account.

Representatives of "Kantim" have stated that there was never any intention of having a proper bull-fight and that all preparations would be taken to protect the animal, the maidens and the spectators. In any case, it was only a joke, and the time of the full program.

Better, More, Water For Tel Aviv Homes

Jerusalem Post Reporter

TEL AVIV, Thursday. — More water will be sent to the north of the Yarkon River to improve Tel Aviv's supply, it was stated today in a report by the city's water installations today.

With a number of salinated wells near the sea, replaced by new ones, it is hoped that the quality of water will steadily improve. The problem of reaching the bottom of high buildings has been partially solved by the completion of two concrete reservoirs 10 metres above sea level in the extreme North of the city. These can raise the supply to five-and-a-half storeys. Residents living higher than that will still have to pump water to a roof tank.

Councillors and newsmen visited the central control room in the centre of the city, from where the water is centrally controlled. The Municipal stores and workshops, where much of the required equipment is made, and a number of pump houses. People here waste a considerable amount of water, using 328 litres per head per day, it was said. It is hoped that this will be rectified when water meters are universally installed.

Police Doing Duty Anger Ship's Owners

HAIFA, Thursday. — Members of the Zim management, eager to get on the S.S. Israel at the first possible moment, were saved from a possible ducking and injury by police-men who kept them from boarding the ship via a rope ladder in the Bay early this morning. The police refused to let them board the ship in the choppy, open sea, despite the vigorous protests from the ship's officials, "as a symbol of Israel," whose name also bears.

Police pointed out that a port pilot had been killed while boarding a ship under similar conditions; while a woman was seriously injured from drowning by a constable who dived into the sea after her when she fell off a rope ladder. Since then, strict rules have been laid down, not to allow anyone not on urgent business to board ships outside the breakwater.

The officials, apparently unaware of the police instructions, told the press that they would demand "full satisfaction," and might take legal action against the police for "stepping owners from boarding their own vessel."

Jaffa Expands Citrus Export Facilities

Jerusalem Post Reporter

TEL AVIV, Thursday. — Jaffa Port will be able this year to handle 1.5m. to 2m. crates of citrus as compared with the one million crates which left the port last season. The Jerusalem Post learned from the harbour authorities here this morning.

A giant new shed with a capacity of 50,000 crates and fitted with special plywood ceilings for its sections, where the fruit will be fumigated, is practically complete. The harbour workshops have prepared some 8,000 wooden loading platforms, which will make possible the almost completely mechanized handling of the crates.

With the first rain, the sea has risen and unloading of the Tappuz 4,000-ton cargo of sugar required special precautions to prevent it from being damaged by the rain or the swell. The Tappuz also brought 450 tons of general cargo.

In Tel Aviv harbour, offloading of the 1,700 tons of citrus crate wood from the Bolivian vessel, the S.S. Filtrik, continued today. The ship, which arrived on Tuesday, also brought 300 tons of general cargo.

The Dutch vessel Midas, was expected later today with a 600-ton cargo of iron ore and 300 tons of sugar.

Salary Demands Presented By Municipal Clerks, Teachers

Jerusalem Post Staff

Academic pay for primary school teachers, and increases for clerists in Government service and officials of local authorities, are among the new demands put forward following the recent pay rises granted civil servants.

It was pointed out that the lower pay rates have had many University graduates to change their minds about becoming primary school teachers. In addition, qualified teachers (not University graduates) see no reason to continue to study for a degree if they know that it will bring no reward.

There are 180 University graduates among the 5,000 primary school teachers.

LOCAL AUTHORITIES

The Minister of Interior, Mr. Moshe Shapira, is to appoint a 15-member committee in the near future to examine the problem of linking the salaries of employees of local authorities with those of civil servants.

Until this committee formulates its proposals, the various District Representatives have been informed that they are forbidden to negotiate with any local authority on salary increases.

The chairman of the committee will represent the Ministry while seven members are to come from the various local authorities; two from the Local Government Association; and one each from the National Councils Association, the National Councils Association, and the Jerusalem, Tel Aviv and Haifa municipalities.

GOVERNMENT CHEMISTS

TEL AVIV, Thursday. — Government-employed chemists called for immediate negotiations on the question of salary increases at a meeting here last night. They demanded that their pay should have the same relation to that of doctors as existed in January, 1953.

ENGINEERS' PAY

TEL AVIV, Thursday. — The question of engineers' pay was discussed at a meeting held last night attended by the Minister of Development, Dr. Joseph, members of the Histadrut Central Committee, representatives of the Engineers' Union and of the Civil Servants' Union and the Acting Civil Service Commissioner, Mr. I. Meiselman.

It was decided to set up a small committee to examine details and to formulate proposals.

SADAF ELECTS DEPUTY MAYORS

SADAF, Thursday. — Four Deputy Mayors were elected by the Town Council last night. They are Messrs. Y. Golper, A. Cohen (both of the Histadrut bloc), M. H. Barak (Agudat Israel and Poale Agudat), and B. Haupt (Haapoel Hamizrachi). Only one of the deputies will receive a salary, though it has not yet been decided who this will be. A town management of five Councillors and Mayor Abraham Naorah (Histadrut) will also be elected.

Officials Resigning From Trade Ministry

Mr. Y. Glikman, Director-General of the Ministry of Trade and Industry, is expected to resign shortly, according to Ministry sources yesterday.

Other senior officials of the Ministry are also expected to resign in connection with the new future for personal reasons. These include Mr. S. Muriel, Deputy Director-General, who is returning to the Manufacturers Association, and Mr. H. Kaplan, Director of the Department of Export, who is in leave for Burma, where he will establish a similar department for the Government there.

Mr. A. Leshem, Director of the Industrial Division, is expected to be appointed to one of the Directorates of the Manufacturers Association.

These resignations have no direct connection with the transfer of the Ministry from General Meiselman.

STRIKE AGAINST HERUT SICK FUND

HAIFA, Thursday. — The Medical Association here has called a strike of doctors in the North area working for the Kupat Holim Le'ummi (Association with the Herut movement), because membership in that fund is not restricted to persons of limited means. The Association has demanded a joint scrutiny of membership lists and exclusion of the well-to-do.

Kupat Holim Le'ummi has rejected this demand, on the grounds that no such restriction was applied to the Histadrut's Kupat Holim, which had wealthy members such as drivers of transport cooperatives.

KPAR SABA, Thursday. — The tracks of Abraham Ben Avraham Shalom, 66, who had been missing from his home here since Tuesday, were yesterday found to lead to Kalkilya, in Jordan. The old man, apparently lost his way while returning from work, owing to his bad eyesight, and crossed the border in error. The matter has been taken up by the Israel-Jordan M.A.C. and it is expected that Mr. Shalom will be returned in a few days. His crossing was reported in the Old City daily, "Fala," which said that he was being detained for questioning.
